AMERICAN LEGION
PLANS TO DEMAND
WAR CHEST FUNDSInterests of Disabled Soldiers
Declared to Be First Responsibility.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 17.—With the declaration of Hanford MacNider, national commander, that the American Legion regarded the interests of the disabled service men as its first responsibility still ringing in their ears, World War veterans began the second session of their convention here with indications that the rehabilitation question would again come up for discussion. The legionnaires were considering the bulletin issued to all post commanders by Lemuel Boyles, national adjutant, advising them that millions of dollars collected during the war for benefit of soldiers and sailors rightfully belonged to the American Legion.

After citing court decisions setting the legion as the one organization in its class to disburse the funds, the national adjutant advised the commander to take proper steps to secure all war chest collections.

After the business sessions today, the veterans will turn to many social and athletic events planned for their amusement.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, is here to address the convention. Baseball Commissioner Landis, who arrived last night, will address the convention today.

Landis Joins Festivities

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 17.—Kenesaw Mountain Landis was paraded through the crowded streets last night on the shoulders of leaders of an un-programmed procession of more than 5,000 war veterans who are here attending the American Legion national convention. When the veterans had returned home to the crowded lobby, Mr. Landis was called on for a speech.

"Boys," he said, "I'll never miss another Legion convention as long as I live. My supper's waiting for me—You know how far I'll go for you—Gangway!"

The veterans then shouldered Hanford MacNider, retiring national commander and marched with him through the streets in the same manner.

PUNTS AND

will send his men through a hard grind this week in preparation for the Elkins game, and hopes to trounce the team that held Charleston to a low score.

At Tracton Park
 The East Side-West Union game booked for this Saturday will be played at Tracton Park instead of South Side Park, owing to the fact that the Elks' circus is booked for the local ball yard all week. Coach Gamage expects to have his men in shape for the contest and hopes to secure a victory. Despite the reverses last Saturday, the East Side boys are full of fight and will battle all the way.

The Statistics
 Following are the statistics on the game as compiled by the Tr. State News Bureau for the Pittsburgh Sunday papers:

punts	10	8	152	78
Return of kick-
offs	4	0	91
Penalties	1	3	15	25
Fumbles	6	1
Fumbles recovered	6	1
Fumbles recovered by opponents	3
First downs	9	4
Totals	71	61	672	772

(For the benefit of the reader, it should be explained that in reaching the total number of offensive plays, the number of forward passes completed, intercepted and incomplete are eliminated, since they are included in the total number of forward passes attempted. Similarly, the number of returns on punts and kickoffs, the number of first downs, penalties and fumbles are omitted since they are not offensive plays, but are included in the above table.)

 A consideration of this table covers the contest pretty thoroughly. West Virginia's superiority is just about correctly measured by its total yardage of 772 in sixty-one plays as compared to Pitt's 672 yards in seventy-one plays.

In the matter of first downs, Pitt had a decided advantage with nine as compared to the West Virginians' four. Two of Pitt's first downs resulted from penalties to the Mountaineers for offside play, however.

Won't Meet Waynesburg.
 The Fairmont State Normal team will not play Waynesburg at Waynesburg this week, as rumored, according to Homer Toothman, Normal coach. He says that Waynesburg kept putting him off and changing dates and would not answer his letters. Finally they called up at the eleventh hour and said the game was advertised for this week. Homer told them his team would not be there.

SPECIAL TRAIN NOW
CERTAIN FOR GAME

MORGANTOWN, Oct. 17.—If plans now being made go through a special train of six coaches will carry the Mountaineer football squad, coaches and attendants, the University cadet band and Morgantown fans to Charleston this week-end. Since the victory over Pitt this city has been "football crazy" and by tomorrow the special train is expected to be definitely scheduled.

One of the cars will be occupied by the squad, two others by the band and the remainder are being reserved for the team's followers. Director of Athletics Harry A. Stansbury announced today a minimum number of fifty persons is needed to insure the chartering of the special. Up until today nearly forty had applied for reservations and with several more coming in every hour the securing of the special seems assured.

The train is scheduled to leave here Thursday night and the trip will be made by way of Fairmont, Clarksburg, Parkersburg and Huntington. The cars will be available Friday night, thus saving fans from here hotel expenses. The return trip will be started some time after the game Saturday.

Interest here in the W. & L. contest is just as great as it was before the Pitt battle and members of the team are being urged by everyone to "beat W. & L." The Generals are old and formidable rivals who must be beaten. Football is the sole topic of conversation here these days and so long as money is available many fans can be expected to follow the team over the country. The success of the proposed special is, in the opinion of those who have already signed up for the trip, only a few hours away.

ELECTION LAWS TO BE EXPLAINED

Open Meeting of Citizenship Department of Woman's Club Announced.

The American citizenship department of the Woman's Club, which is scheduled to hold a meeting Thursday afternoon, will postpone this meeting until Saturday, October 28, when an open meeting will be held in the Masonic Temple at 2:30.

There will be an attempt made to get great numbers of women in for this meeting from all over the county, and the program will be a practical lesson in citizenship, handled in an absolutely non-partisan manner, and highly instructive for every woman voter in Marion County.

The Mannington Club and the Farmington Club will be asked to assist in arousing the interest of the women generally throughout the county, and both the women's Republican party leaders and those of the Democratic party will unite efforts to get their women out for the meeting.

The American citizenship department feels that women voters need and desire information about the ballot and about the proper way to mark a ticket, and also that lack of this information keeps many women away from the polls who are too shy to ask questions at the voting booths. One of the features of the meeting will be a "query box" where women may deposit written questions about voting and election laws that are bothering them. These questions will be fully answered and explained, thus giving information not only to the one who has written the question but to the others present who desire to know.

This is expected to be one of the largest department meetings that will be held by the Fairmont Woman's Club this year, for it is an open meeting to which every woman in Marion County has been invited.

The meeting is dated for Saturday afternoon, because that day is a general shopping day with women from out of town, and the time has been set for their convenience.

CORSET EFFECT FOR MEN.
 CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—The correctly attired man of the next few months will wear trousers with a corset effect, delegates to the national clothing convention asserted here today.

A pliable belt permanently attached to each side of the trousers and drawn around and fastened in front gives the corset effect. The belt is unsupported by the belt. Norfolk coats with corset effect belts and a top coat provided with an effective yoke will be popular, the clothiers said.

Intrigue Center
 Calder, 53, contractor and real estate man, was a congressman from 1905 to 1915 and was elected senator in 1917.

Copeland is a Michigan man 54, one-time practicing physician in Bay City, mayor of Ann Arbor from 1901 to 1903, professor of ophthalmology at the University of Michigan, dean of the New York Homeopathic Medical College, and New York City health commissioner since 1918.

New York state normally is Republican and New York City Democratic. Since 1894 there have been only three Democrats out of 13 governors, elected in 1910, 1912, and 1918.

Smith's strength is indicated by his victory in 1918 by 64,000 votes, although two years earlier the state went Republican by 234,000 for senator, 150,000 for governor and 110,000 for president; and in 1920 Smith led Cox by nearly two to one, losing to Miller by only 74,000 while Cox lost the state to Harding by 1,090,000.

Republicans see victory Nov. 7, chiefly on Miller's record. And they also think they will benefit by pre-convention strife among the Democrats; although Copeland undoubtedly was nominated for senator as a sop to the Hearst-Hylan group when Tammany decreed Smith and not Hearst should run for governor. Republicans think William Randolph Hearst's affection for the Democratic ticket has been pretty thoroughly alienated.

To save my coin I shall not try. My hope of bliss has flown. I cannot board enough to buy. A coal mine of my own.

G. O. P. VICTORY IN NEW YORK STATE
BEING PREDICTED

Important Presidential Contender to Be Made or Unmade in Election.

By EDWARD M. THIERRY

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Advice from political wiseacres is to watch New York state on election day. They have it figured out that the 1922 campaign will make or unmake an important presidential contender.

The man is governor Nathan L. Miller. His political fortunes make the state fight a subject of national interest.

If Miller wins it is argued that he will be the biggest political figure in the country, next to President Harding. That is, among what may be called regular Republicans. A more spectacular person of presidential proportion will be Gifford Pinchot, if he is elected governor of Pennsylvania; for his progressive history and his startling victory over the Republican machine give him a halo Miller cannot get.

Miller, however, is being talked about more as the man who may get the Republican presidential nomination. If he wins this year—and more important, if Hardings doesn't wait it again.

No National Issue
 There is no national issue in the New York campaign for the election of governor and United States senator. Scarcely any other kind of an issue, either, lacking which Governor Miller and his Democratic opponent, former Governor Alfred E. Smith, are engaging in a dry, statistical debate over which of them conducted the state government most economically.

The senatorial contenders are William M. Calder, Republican senator since 1917, and Dr. Royal S. Copeland, Democratic health commissioner of New York City.

The two tickets are a queer mixture, in personality and political complexion. Smith, Tammany high priest, known to everybody as "Al," is a professional politician. So is Senator Calder, Brooklyn Republican leader. Miller is a judge type, a poor mixer, a non-political campaigner. Copeland, though a physician and a former professor in medical college, is a champion publicist, who isn't a politician by training so much as he is by instinct and absorption (the law in the rough and ready Hyman school).

Smith is the genial type, with a permanent smile that is infectious, and a handsomeness equally as ready as his wit. He was born on New York's east side and still lives there. At 49 he has been assemblyman, sheriff, president of the board of aldermen, and governor from 1918 to 1921. He is now head of a trucking concern.

Miller, who beat Smith for reelection, is 54 and lives in Syracuse. He has been a school teacher, lawyer, corporation counsel of Cortland, state comptroller, justice of the Supreme Court, and associate judge of the Court of Appeals. He resigned the highest judicial office in the state to resume practice of the law. In 1920 he hit the national spotlight by booming Herbert Hoover for president, nomination. We went back into politics the same year and was elected governor.

Republican Victory Expected.

The governing sign of the scales and the middle sign of the Air-Triplicity, and the governing planet is Venus, the goddess of love. The birthstone is an opal and the astral colors are crimson and black.

Libra people are psychic collectors of thoughts, having the ability to acquire the occult laws of nature. Possessing the power of perception of spiritual knowledge, they can reach the highest goal of human attainment by bringing their powers to center within the bosom.

These people are too apt to take things from a material standpoint, and though their fine interior nature will often show them the true soul-side of the question, yet they often prefer and accept the conclusions of human logic.
